It is understood that the Government is eager for peace on almost any terms.

The Prussians were repulsed at the forest of Hecourt with a loss of one hundred killed

The Tours Journal says that the Government will in no case submit to a peace humiliating to France

The Empire to be Restored

LONDON Oct 23 Empress Eugenie is here holding a conference with Granville Negotiations favorable for peace are progressing England will ask an armistice not for the purpose of electing a Constituent Assembly but to restore the Empire. POLITICAL NOTES

A dispatch from Columbus (Ohio) 18th says The official returns show that Perry (Republican) has 745 majority for Congress in the First District Stevenson (Republican) in the Second, 1 049 Morgan (Democrat) 147 in the Thirteenth Sprague (Republican) 716 in the Fifteenth

Says the New York Herald Sixty millions of dollars is the aggregate amount of assessments to carry the next (1872) Presidential campaign for the Democrats That amount if not already subscribed will be laid down on the counter by the time the nomination is made But sixty millions of dollars will not buy the American people

The actual official population of New York City is 930 5[illegible]6 On this population it cast 1 0 000 votes Ten years ago the city had 815 000 inhabitants yet the city then cast only 9[illegible] [illegible]58 votes It will thus be seen that while the increase of population has been 1[illegible]0 000 the increase of voters has been 65,000 Fully half of these 65 000 are fraudulent

The Brown family are progressive Ever since John Brown's soul went marching on others of the family have aspired to greatness John Brown pure and simple is the Democratic candidate for Governor of Tennessee John Young Brown aspires on the same ticket to similar honors in Kentucky and B Gratz Brown wants to be Governor of Missouri

Occasionally but very seldom the Democrats imitate the Republicans in bolting and quarreling and run two tickets in the same county or district There are two Democratic candidates in the field for Congress in the Sixth District of Kentucky The Cincinnati Enquirer thinks that the split will result in the election of William Wrightson the Republican nominee but this does not seem probable Two years ago the vote for Congress was For Jones Democrat 14 052 Republican 6 117 Democratic majority 8,000 But the Enquirer is afraid of the Fifteenth Amendment voters turning the scale

A Hampshire Democrat [illegible] Martin of North Hampton New Hampshire [illegible] hard shell Democrat His will [illegible] that the executor should select three Democrats to carry him to the grave [illegible] should be paid from his estate six dollars [illegible] that no funeral services should be held over his remains and [illegible] minister of the Gospel [illegible] had never preached [illegible] The provisions were strictly carried out on September 13th except [illegible] of the minister

The German papers announce that the French prisoners of war are not to be confined in fortresses as many as possible will be employed in executing public works just as Napoleon I used the Germans who had fallen into his hands to construct new roads The Directors of the Royal Upper Silesian Railway have been already requested to state how many of these prisoners they can take to aid in building the new lines from Breslau to Strehlen and from Posen to Thorn and Bromberg

AN ASCENT OF MOUNT HOOD

[The following account of an ascent of Mount Hood is well written and interesting and we therefore give it a place in our columns and thus put it on record with other accounts of a similar kind Ed OREGONIAN]

On the 26th day of August a party of eight six in a light wagon and two on horseback started from Forest Grove on a trip to Mount Hood Our party consisted of Prof Collier with six young men, students in the Pacific University and the teamster

After three days and a half of travel —passing through both Portlands and east over the Base Line road for several miles through Powell's valley and up the valley of the Sandy - having spent the Sabbath in camp We arrived at a marshy prairie near which is Government Camp Here we were joined by Prof L J Powell of Willamette University who ascended the mountain with us Half a mile from camp we left our wagon and packing on the horses what things we should need, started up the gently sloping ridges which lead us to the mountain Soon we found great quantities of huckleberries which grew here in timber which has been once burned

As we marched along up the ridges—which now were steeper exclamations of surprise were heard as we caught glimpses of the glorious mountain scenery of the Cascade Range and as we found beautiful flowers which were scattered along the path

The trees here are mostly Black Pine Their height was graded down as the elevation grew greater till they were only five or six feet high at the utmost edge of tree life

Water was at last found running from a snow-bank, and camp was made Now the mountain top seem to almost hang over us The camp was in the lee of a huge bowlder which seemed to protect us from the wind and which was surrounded by a carpeting of Juniper vines Here we were six thousand and ninety three feet above the level of the sea. The party went into blankets with determination visible in every face

Next morning after an early breakfast, and the preparation of staves to aid us in climbing, and each one with a preparation of "Dobies," butter and sugar —to aid the inner man tied on the girdle behind, we started up the southern side of the mountain Now it is easy to all appearances to walk over those few hundred yards of bare ridges to the snow line and then—Oh it seems to be only a short distance to the top But if your courage is easily weakened by disappointment do not try to climb Mount Hood, for those deceitful few hundred yards are nearly two miles and four miles of hard climbing lie between you and the summit We were now traveling over loose scoria which for the greater part of the year is covered with snow, but now lies bare in all its ruggedness, having in the gullies between its ridges narrow glacier like fields of snow up which we walked part of the way and which have streams of water pouring from them all day these however cease at night Scattered all over these ridges grow a sort of rye a lupine, an aster and a species of Portulaca The last grows far up the mountain, and is the last form of vegetable life seen

Some had brought charcoals along to rub on the face in order to protect it from the dazzling reflections from the snow

High above camp there runs a well beaten Indian trail. It seeks this elevation in order to avoid the ravines below, and is quite a surprise when one crosses it The party saw a plump coyote on the next ridge These animals are said to be quite numerous here and to live partly on a species of mole the furrows and hills of which are very plentiful Probably also, the spiders which one sees here in great numbers help Mr Coyote to make out a meal quite often

A curious phenomena of pink snow was observed by our party The coloring was in patches and extended quite a way down into the snow beds.

Porphyritic rock was very common entering very largely into the surface formation of the mountain The regular lava rock was nowhere observed I think In this Mt Hood seems to differ from its companion peaks of the Cascade range —especially from Mt Adams The latter is surrounded by a country eminently volcanic sounding hollow to the tread for miles, and having vast fields of lava with but a few feet of earth over it several old craters plainly seen and great caverns of volcanic origin extending for miles a country covered by outflows of lava But the volcanic action of Mt Hood seems rather to have been that of intense heat and the eruption of volcanic ashes which thrown out in great quantities were transformed by the action of heat and volcanic vapor into porphyritic rock and a [illegible] of various degrees of hardness [illegible] with little if any attendant outflow of lava

After following the stony ridges for about two hours and a half we came to the large fields of snow These seem to fill up vast basins in the sides of the mountain and at various places in them are chasms of different widths which seem to have been formed by the starting away of the snow below them They are very deep, and water may be heard flowing far below

The course now rises more rapidly at one time up a rocky ridge along side of a vast snow field, which is wonderfully torn and cracked seemingly in consequence of a glacier-like movement of the whole mass In the fissures of this the snow seemed of a deep blue color Immediately on the right is a precipice on the edge of which we are walking and which at one place really hangs over From this point the cliffs opposite present a strange mixture of stratified sedimentary rock and of basalt jammed together and tossed up in the wildest confusion and yet where even in the cliff one sees rock of either form alone it is easily distinguished Stones are constantly rattling down from these cliffs

Soon our path lies over or around an abutment of rock which juts out from a tall crag This we overcome and then find their way up a very difficult [illegible] over loose rock where there had been sometime a slide On one of these loose boulders accidentally started by one of the party [illegible] [illegible] warning shout barely enabled one who was behind to throw himself against the face of the cliff and let the flying boulder strike in his position of the moment before Those who went around the foot of this place to the right found pretty easy going till they asked for the rope a hundred and fifty feet of which was let down to them to help them up the face of the glacier

The party next went over a great uneven field of snow through what must once have been a huge crater, from a quarter to a half mile across which now has its southern and southwestern sides broken away and the cavity partially filled with snow and from this great mass of snow seems to flow the glacier just mentioned At several places in this old crater there issues constantly from crevices in the rock hot sulphurous steam [illegible] At these places the rock [illegible] hot and [illegible]

Next we came to a chasm in the snow and followed along it to the west until a crossing place—formed by a snow slide filling up the chasm—was found

For the last thousand feet we had been climbing up through what used to be the inside of the mountain There now remained the steep inside of the broken remnant of the rim of the old crater to be ascended This was about four hundred feet high Here one of the party who was ahead with the rope slipped and tried coasting in the old crater of Mount Hood but was satisfied with a short course of a hundred feet, being then caught by two of the party At this point four sensible ones turned around and went to camp The plan of going diagonally across this steep face which had an inclination of nearly forty five degrees was then adopted, and it was necessary to cut steps with the axe in the frozen snow Across this then up a steep pile of rocks and we were nearly at the top

A little higher up a place was found large enough to place the barometer on a tripod formed of staves The part of the top where our party was is a very narrow ledge of loose rocks

The present summit of the mountain is a jagged semicircular ridge, just as if it were a part of the edge of an old crater Mt Hood has probably been very differently shaped from what it is now On the northern side the hand could be placed across the edge of the snowy precipice, which goes down almost perpendicularly for an immense distance probably between three and four thousand feet certainly not less than three Before the southern sides of the old crater had fallen away the mountain must have presented on all sides a face somewhat like to that on the northern side at the present time There are evidences of this in the general outlines of the tall cliffs which remain on the broken side—as if when the southern wall partly fell away they being firmer stood through all while masses on both sides of them fell If the mountain were to present such an appearance now on all sides as it did then the summit would be nearly if not quite inaccessible

The view from the summit was very fine although smoke and clouds either dimmed or hid a great deal of beautiful scenery A portion of Dalles City could be seen with the naked eye and by the aid of a glass it was made out very easily to be the Garrison building and the steeple of the Catholic church The Columbia was seen winding along for a great distance toward the ocean

The valley of the Wallamet was partially hidden by clouds

Before we reached the top a column of smoke had hidden Mts Jefferson, Shasta and the Three Sisters but Rainier Adams and St Helens were visible to the northward

The Cascade Range seems to have beautiful prairies and lakes scattered through it It is very interesting to trace the courses of the various rivers that head near Mt Hood

Three barometrical observations were taken by Professor Collier, and from these the height of the mountain was calculated to be eleven thousand two hundred and eighteen feet The ascent occupied five or six hours the descent a much shorter time, and was accomplished over the snow, in part by sitting flat down and committing one's self to luck, or by sitting astride a stick, holding one end of it up and letting the other act as keel No accident occurred, except that one of the party plunged into a chasm which was concealed by fresh snow, but as it was a narrow one he reached the other side before getting in more than waist deep

The next day we started back to the wagon in several divisions, leaving Prof C. behind to gather botanical and geological specimens That afternoon several of us went to the trout ponds in the vicinity and caught a few speckled trout Thus having rested after our climb we started next morning for home

AN OLD MISER CUTS OUT THE TONGUE OF A CHILD —SWIFT RETRIBUTION

[From the Saginaw (Mich) Republican]

It has been known for some time that a dirty wretched old man lived outside the city, about a mile or so in a filthy little cabin, entirely alone and that he was a hermit, No one ever went near him for it was said he was a [illegible] man His only companion was a skeleton looking dog He came into the city sometimes to beg and would piteously implore for mercy stating that he was starving Sometimes he would gather rags or scraps of paper and sell them Every one supposed him to be wretchedly poor He had an evil look, and mothers would remove their children when they saw him coming One day last week, however a child the son of Mr Abraham Skinner went out alone to fish in the stream, and happened to wander on until, before he knew it he came to the hovel of the old man At first he was frightened but seeing no one around he plucked up courage and went nearer Every thing was silent. He went and peeped through a crack in the side of the hut He almost screamed at what he saw, for he beheld the old man bending over a bag of money that he was counting There were other bags beside him containing large quantities of money Mr Skinner's son was so terrified that when he attempted to move he stumbled Like lightning, the old man rushed out and seized him "Ha! he screamed, 'I've caught you have I? You saw me, did you Well, now you'll pay for it And before Mr Skinner's son could say a word, the old monster with an awful laugh drew out a knife and (oh horror!) cut the child's tongue out Then he chopped off his fingers Now he said now you can go, for you can't tell. The poor boy ran off overcome with agony, and ran to his father's house only to fill them with consternation What was the matter with their child? He could not speak to tell them He could not write for his fingers were cut Still the poor boy after efforts of the most horrible pain managed to fix a pencil between his bloody stumps of fingers and wrote the awful tale A party was immediately organized and hastened to the miser's den He was at the door as they approached and fired a revolver six times at them, wounding two of the party seriously Mr Skinner returned the fire and the aged villain fell with a piercing yell mortally wounded. My money—my money he moaned My beautiful money and he crawled to his bags of gold and sank upon them a corpse Over $10 000 was discovered which was presented to the poorhouse and other charitable institutions The event will never be forgotten by our citizens The child is slowly recovering The miser was buried the day after and the hut was torn down

Burlesquing Their Own Doctrine.

For the last three or four years the principal stock in trade of Democratic politicians in this State has been the "Chinese question." They have labored to advance it to the rank of a question of the first importance, they have asserted that the issues presented by it were the most momentous that could engage public attention, and they have appealed to the people to entrust them with power, promising to meet the question in a way that would settle it on the side of the white laboring masses and deliver them from the "grinding competition" of Chinese labor. Mr. Grover, when a candidate for Governor, devoted nearly the whole of every one of his speeches to this subject; and only a few weeks ago his inaugural address was full of it. Democratic editors, from those of reputable standing down to poor, feeble, drivelling "Grasshopper Jim," have spent nearly all their time in writing on the same theme. Heretofore, they said, the Democratic party have been unable to do anything. In 1868 they had the Legislature and passed some anti-Chinese bills, but a Radical Governor vetoed them. Give us both the Legislature and the Governor, and we will show you how to deal with the question.

Well, they got the Legislature and the Governor. Now what have they done? What measure to give white laborers the "relief" that was promised has been passed? Who can specify? Nothing has been done.

And not only have the promises that were made on this subject been allowed to pass unfulfilled, but they who made them now turn about and ridicule the whole thing. Their members get up in the Legislature and say that no lawyer not a demagogue would pretend that anything can be done to check Chinese immigration or to impose special taxes or other burdens on those now here. And as if to utterly renounce all that they have said and promised upon the subject, and to turn the whole matter into ridicule and contempt, one of their members proposes "a bill to enable the State of Oregon to have a dead thing on Chinamen," and the bill is read and commented on amid great hilarity. They thus burlesqued the "great issue" they have been preaching for years and confess that it is a fitter subject for mirth and ridicule, than for any serious consideration. Gov. Grover like a demagogue as he is, thought to tickle the popular ear with recommendations for legislation in regard to the Chinese: and the reception which his suggestions have met is seen in Hendershott's bill, the title of which is above given. One thing is certain, at all events, and that is that we have a "dead thing," on the Democratic party in future, on this subject. They can never harp on it again. They admit there is nothing in it; their Legislature laughs at it, and the subject that has been the basis of so many profound arguments and moving appeals to the working classes, is treated as worth only of derision. And so goes another "great doctrine," and another "time honored Democratic principle."

A Difference Between the Parties.

In discussing the phases of the political campaign of this year in the Eastern and Middle States, the Chicago Tribune justly observes that this is the apathetic and lukewarm year for the Republicans—being equi-distant between the last and the next Presidential election. The Democrats always turn out, whether the issues involved are small or great. This is mainly owing to a marked difference in the aims and aspirations of the two great opposing organizations. It is exceedingly difficult to get Republicans to go to the polls merely to elect men of their own faith to subordinate offices, or to keep offices from falling into the hands of the Democrats. But Democrats will turn out in spite of wind, weather, or business to secure an office for a partisan seeker thereafter.

The essential difference in the structure of the two parties in this regard, may be thus stated:

The Republicans value office only as it promotes principles and measures, while the Democrats care little for principles and policies except as they aid in obtaining offices. The chief end of the Democratic organization, and the purpose for which it is maintained in the North, is to obtain offices and live on taxes, fees and emoluments. They are the natural "tax-eaters" of the American body politic. Hence they will swarm to the polls, rain or shine, and rush to a local election involving nothing but the possession of a few fat offices, with almost as much élan as at a great Presidential contest involving important national policies and constitutional problems.

This is an explanation of the fact that Democrats invariably make some gains in the "off-years" in politics, but are always crushed by overwhelming majorities when great things are at stake.

All the so-called Democratic papers in the State have had leading articles on the death of Gen. Lee, mourning for him as they never mourned for any man however illustrious who was always true to his country and gave his life for her cause. Thus their greatest sorrows are called forth at the death of a man who only escaped the penalty due his crimes by the clemency of the country, and who owed all the greatness he ever acquired to a treasonable attempt to bring his country to ruin. Of such the poet makes an old Roman speak:

> Is there not some chosen curse,
> Some hidden thunder in the stores of heaven,
> Red with uncommon wrath to blast the man
> Who owes his greatness to his country's ruin.

But this is the style of man that the so-called Democracy admired most while he lived and mourn most deeply now he is dead.

If so many robberies and murders are committed in this city as members of the Legislature told, when they were trying to justify the enactment of the police bill, why in the name of humanity don't the Governor hurry up the new regulation and put the new machinery in motion? For of course a great many of these outrages are occurring, or a great number of persons have impudently and slanderously lied.

There appears to be a small majority (fifty-three votes) against John Cessna (Rep.) for Congress in the Sixteenth District of Pennsylvania. Mr. Cessna, however, will contest. He should have the seat, without question. We are very clear as to how these things should be done, since the Oregon Legislature has shown the way.

The Oregon City organ says "the whole nation has cause to mourn Gen. Lee's death." It has cause to care in any way about his death, dying when he did; but had he died before he became a traitor, or had he never been born, the country would have had reason always to rejoice.

Canals and Locks.

In all [illegible] the [illegible] perpetrated on the school fund to put money in the pockets of Col. Kelly and his associates, on pretense of aiding in the construction of the canal and locks at Oregon City, our delegation in Congress is to be instructed to secure Congressional aid for the same scheme to the amount of four hundred thousand dollars. This additional subsidy of course is to go to the same company that receives the benefit of the school fund robbery. And of course Senator Kelly will work diligently to get the [illegible] through Congress. His share of it would be a very pretty sum. Mr. Cochran's resolution relating to this Congressional subsidy was considered a few days ago, when Mr. Trevitt offered the following as a substitute for it. Like the Statesman we are decidedly in favor of the substitute, which is unique and original, viz.:

Substitute I for the S. J. R. No. 19.

WHEREAS, The Columbia, Umpqua, Rogue and Wallamet rivers are the great commercial channels for the conduct of the vast amount of products of the prolific valleys of Oregon, and that these streams can be made the cheapest and most convenient method of transportation for the people to put their varied crops into the markets of the world, and

WHEREAS, After all the liberal and generous donations made by the General Government to this State; including the Five Hundred Thousand acres of land granted to the State for Internal Improvements, which is now claimed to have been diverted from its original intent by the aged founders of State Government, and placed to the credit of the Common School Fund, there still remains a further important object which we feel to be our duty to call the attention of Congress; and that is the obstructions to the navigation of the streams referred to in the preceding preamble. The obstructions mentioned are of such a nature that with a reasonable expenditure could be removed. The people are now, and have been for many years, suffering great losses for the want of free navigation of the streams referred to, more especially does this apply to the Pomological Plantations of the Willamette Valley, the products of which are the principal source of wealth to that section of country—apples, whose blush rival the glow on the check of Lee Hudson, are liable to be detained at the falls above mentioned until they rot on the hands of the virtuous, but unfortunate, producer, whose honesty too often proves his utter discomfiture; therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate, the House concurring, That our Senators be instructed, and our Representative requested to use the whole of their influence, to appropriate a sum of money, not exceeding eight hundred thousand dollars, to aid in the construction of a canal and locks around the rapids of the Cascades of the Columbia, and the Falls of the Willamette at Oregon City, and to improve the entrance of the mouth of Rogue River, and in case they should not be able to find such mouth they have our consent to substitute the mouth of one Dowell, an estimable citizen residing at the upper end of that creek, and make navigable the waters of the Umpqua from the outlet to Roseburg, and your petitioners will enter into bonds with sufficient security, if it can be obtained in the State, that they will not at any future time ask the same to be diverted to the School Fund, or any other man.

Parallel Inconsistencies.

The contradiction and absurd course of the Legislature in regard to the Southern Oregon railroad is fitly paralled by its course in regard to the school lands which are to be stolen for the benefit of a corporation in which the Senator elect has a leading interest. First, the Democrats in the Legislature pledge Kelly to oppose the Pengra route. A few days afterwards they instructed him to get a land grant for that route. Now mark, the parallel in their action regarding the school lands. A fortnight ago they adopted a memorial to Congress praying that body to confirm the grant of 500,000 acres to the State for educational purposes. But within a few days thereafter they went back on that memorial and passed an act contemplating a violation of the school lands and putting up a job for the benefit of hungry speculators who have long had eye on the educational lands of the State, and desired to get a grab at them. The jobbing is now begun and will continue till everything that will yield any stealings is picked up.

Andy Johnson has come to an open rupture with the "Democracy" of Tennessee. In a late speech he openly charges that the Convention boldly proclaimed the doctrine of secession and refused to recognize the results of the war, and that such a course was ruinous to the prospects of the Democracy North, and dangerous to the future peace of the State. He has publicly refused to support the nominee of the Convention, and proclaimed war against the rebel element of the party. The late Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, Gen. Satterfield, has also cut loose from the organization, and denounces the whole movement as dangerous and revolutionary. He claims that there are thirty thousand "Conservative Democrats" in the State who will not vote the rebel programme. Johnson is very bitter, and says the men now spurning him are carrying about his pardons in their pockets.

In an article on "Cabinet Rumors" the San Francisco Bulletin has the following: "It is said Attorney-General Akerman will resign, on account of ill health, and that Senator Williams, of Oregon, will succeed him. The people of the Pacific coast, regardless of political differences, would be glad to be represented in the Cabinet by so solid and upright a man as Mr. Williams. They might prefer that this coast should be represented in the Interior Department, owing to the fact that the West has the largest stake in the land questions which mainly occupy that Bureau; but they would be gratified at any recognition of their claims to a share in the Executive branch of government, in the person of a man who commands their confidence and respect." A very large number of prominent and influential journals have borne similar testimony to the ability and standing of Senator Williams.

A Chicago paper says the second proclamation of President Grant, relating to the European war, and issued a few days ago, places no bar or embargo on merchant vessels, whatever their purpose may be in entering our ports, but detains in port for twenty-four hours all war vessels or privateers who may come into our ports to watch the merchant vessels. This is strictly in accordance with international law, but let us see how it will work. Suppose the French steamer Ville de Paris or Pereire takes on board 40,000 stand of American rifles, and a corresponding quantity of ammunition, and is ready to sail for Havre. She is nominally a merchant vessel, but her cargo is so far contraband, that the moment she gets out of our jurisdiction she is liable to be seized by a Prussian vessel.

A call is soon to be issued by the Governors of the Western and Northwestern States for a delegate convention to meet at Milwaukee at an early date, for the purpose of considering all the questions pertaining to immigration. The Governors of Wisconsin and Minnesota are now in Milwaukee perfecting arrangements.

A young lady in the Western part of New York lost her life a short time since, while endeavoring to dry her face with a lamp after having rubbed it over with benzine to keep the musquitoes away.

THE TERRITORIES.

In the Owyhee mines the wages have been reduced from [illegible] to [illegible] per day.

They have a Good Templar's organization at Idaho City called the "I. Monthly Mountain [illegible]." Phœbus, what a name! A lady is its editor.

The Owyhee Avalanche reports that as a shipping point from the railroad to Owyhee Winnemucca has many advantages over Elko.

The Olympia Tribune says that when the railroad is completed to the [illegible] Creek coal mines coal will be sold in Olympia at $4 per ton.

There is a ledge at Owyhee called the "Whip[illegible]" which is only three or four inches wide, but which is fabulously rich. The owners are "striking" on it and crushing the ore.

An Idaho paper has this item: Some time ago we mentioned the fact that Bill Frazer had purchased a complete house-keeping outfit. It now appears that Bill has been a victim of misplaced confidence, and isn't going to marry. Consequently he has sold the whole rig, including the double bedstead, cradle, etc., to Mike Hyde, who thinks like Mrs. Toodles that they are "handy to have in the house."

WAR MISCELLANY.

The Papal Zouaves have gone to fight for France. Here is another anomaly of the war. Napoleon refused to let the French troops remain in Rome to protect the Pope, and in the change of fortunes it is the Papal troops who go to France to protect the Republic.

As an instance of German forethought, we learn that as early as the latter part of August the Royal Printing Office at Berlin had finished and forwarded to the front 5,000 copies of the specified plans of the fortifications of Paris. They contained all the latest and new, and also the improvements which were in course of construction.

The first five mitrailleuses taken by the Germans from the French during the present war were captured by two Hessian companies, the ninth and eleventh of the 82d Regiment, at the battle of Woerth. The battery was stormed by Lieut. Hohne, all his superior officers having been disabled, and he was made a Captain on the battlefield.

The correspondent of a German paper writes from Konigsberg that the captured French officers strut about the streets as haughty as conquerors, and that it is really humiliating to behold the civilities which are showered upon them by the honest country people, when one stops to reflect how the Germans would probably have been treated by them, had they arrived as victors instead of being vanquished.

Where is the French Government? Is it with the besieged Cabinet members in Paris, or with the migratory delegation at Tours; or does it go up in the balloon with Gambetta, or to Wilhelmshohe with Napoleon; or, finally, is it with Eugenie and Louis in England, or with Bismarck at Versailles? Heretofore, the complaint against the French Government was of its centralization. That does not seem to define the causes of its weakness at present. The Germans purport to have received two proclamations—one from the Tours government, convening the Constituent Assembly, and the other from the Paris faction postponing it. One of these, probably the latter, is without doubt a forgery.

The passion with which the French soldier respects his flag is vividly revealed in a story of Sedan. At the moment of capitulation, a captain, a lieutenant of Zouaves, and a brave sergeant, resolved that the flag which had been left in their keeping should not fall into the hands of the Prussians. So they took the emblem of France to pieces, one concealing the banner under his uniform, the other putting the balls into his pocket, and the third keeping the eagle. After the capitulation, it was agreed that all the relics should be confided to the care of the sergeant, who, being an Alsacian, could speak German. The brave sergeant then managed to escape from his captors, to don the guise of a peasant, and to obtain a basket, in which he placed the memorials of French glory. He then covered the relics with a mass of tobacco, which he had got from the willing peasants, and, thus guarded against detection, he managed to pass through all the German lines, and to reach Paris.

A writer in the Cologne Gazette who has been with the German armies in most of the great battles, says of the Chassepot: "This weapon, according to the unanimous judgment of all our officers, is an excellent infantry weapon, and at a distance of 700 to 1,200 paces surpasses the needle gun, while, as regards aim, our infantry far surpass the French. A very experienced Prussian staff officer said to me: 'The chassepot is an excellent weapon, and if we adopt it with small improvements, and instruct our soldiers as carefully in handling it as with our needle guns, it is quite impossible that our infantry should be attacked.'" The same writer also says that "the French army on the whole fight much better and are better organized than the Austrians were in 1866; consequently it has been much harder to beat them, and has cost much heavier sacrifice. At Gravelotte, on the 18th of August, possibly the half of our troops were engaged as at Sadowa, and yet our loss was more than double that in the latter battle, so much more courageously and skillfully in the French fight, especially the Guards, Zouaves and Chasseurs."

RESIGNATION OF SECRETARY COX. Chicago, Oct. 17. The Tribune's Washington special has the following in relation to the resignation of the Secretary of the Interior:

Since the revoking of the standing order of the Interior Department is generally cited as one of the causes which led to the resignation of Secretary Cox, the facts of the case are of interest. The Secretary did not, as has been widely stated, issue a new order directing that the time taken by clerks in going home to vote should be deducted from their regular vacation or pay. At the election last year, however, when the question of granting leave for the purpose of voting came up, ten days were given without regard to regular vacation. Subsequently it appeared that nearly all the clerks took their regular leave of thirty days, and the ten days in addition; and, as Congress had reduced the force very materially, public business was seriously delayed.

The Secretary then gave notice that the next or present year he should require that the time for vacation should be so chosen as to cover the duty of election, otherwise the time taken, if, together with the vacation, it exceeded thirty days, should be deducted from the pay. This year the attention of the clerks was called to the arrangement thus previously agreed upon.

Messrs. Chandler and Cameron at once went to the President, and represented this as a new thing and a great outrage, and without investigating the matter at all he immediately revoked it.

A SOUND VARIATION OF HIS EXPERIENCE. Senator Carpenter of Wisconsin, in a recent speech at Milwaukee, said: "I was standing by one of our Wisconsin regiments, when, being mustered out, it finally broke ranks in the streets of Milwaukee. I shall never forget a brief conversation I heard between a citizen and one of the soldiers who had just stepped out of the ranks. After the ordinary salutations, 'Well,' said the citizen, 'well, John, you must have seen a good many tough sights.' 'Yes,' said John, 'I would not sell what I have seen for a hundred thousand dollars, and I would not see it again for a hundred millions.'"

ILLINOIS GRAIN PRODUCT. A statement of the number of acres of cultivated land in the different counties of Illinois shows that [illegible] acres were planted in corn, [illegible] acres sown in wheat, and [illegible] acres devoted to the cultivation of other crops. The corn crop grown in that State in 1870 is estimated by the best of judges to exceed that of 1869 fully twenty-five per cent, or a total of [illegible] bushels.

The weather last evening was enough to remind [illegible] trees owned by Mr. [illegible] this year.

[illegible] Railroad Express [illegible] yesterday according to advertisement.

[illegible] left for home last [illegible] made a fine appearance as she steamed away.

Several crossings at the streets up town have been cleaned within a few days. There is room for more improvements of the same sort.

After an absence of six weeks, Mr. George [illegible], of the Cosmopolitan, returned home on Thursday evening. He says the trip can be made from Portland to Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, in nine days. [illegible] has been of service to him. Two [illegible]. The day of his return he was at his [illegible] relatives, at a dinner party.

PRAIRIE ON [illegible].—A few days ago a middle aged man entered the ticket office at the railroad depot to pay his passage to some point interior, and turned to enter the cars. On the platform of the rear car he was looking out for a doorkeeper, and finding his man, as he supposed, promptly delivered up his ticket. He evidently thought that his ticket only admitted him to a seat in the cars on the same principle that he would attend a concert. He picked a good seat, and the train started. Everything were smoothly with him until the conductor made his appearance, taking tickets and exchanging checks to be kept in sight. The passenger protested that he had paid, and had given his ticket to the "doorkeeper." The doorkeeper, however, could not be found: he had probably sold the ticket to some other passenger and the traveler had to pay again. His ideas of how traveling is done by railroad are perhaps somewhat brighter than they were when he went searching, ticket in hand, for the "doorkeeper" to the cars.

YAKIMA.—We observed Mr. Harry Nevison in the city yesterday making fall purchases for the trade of Yakima Valley, W. T. Mr. Nevison informs us that there are now about 250 prosperous families in the Yakima. Those immigrants who went there poor people five years ago, are to-day abundantly supplied with every needed article necessary for comfort. All the finest beef which is consumed in the markets of Puget Sound and British Columbia, comes from Yakima. It is from there that the fine, fat cattle, which we have so repeatedly noted as arriving via the Columbia river steamers, are obtained. The people are not without a hope of railroads, but on the contrary, fully expect that the Northern Pacific will visit them. There is an abundance of very rich grass lands yet open to settlement in the Yakima, and room for hundreds of enterprising men and women.

THE CONTINENTAL.—We clip from the Alta, for the benefit of those readers who doubted the soundness of the Continental, the following paragraph: "A good deal has been said as to the sea worthiness of the ill fated steamer Continental. We published yesterday, the statement of the carpenter of the steamer, in which he declares she was thoroughly sound and in every respect seaworthy. We publish to-day a card signed by all the officers of the ill fated vessel, to which we direct attention. It will be certain to satisfy the doubtful as to her sea worthiness. They state that the terrible storm in which she was caught alone caused her wreck."

CARL BOSCO.—Our readers should endeavor to witness the performances of Carl Boscó, before he leaves Oregon. Those who fail will ever after regret it. Another performance will be given this evening, and on to-morrow afternoon a special performance takes place for the benefit of those who cannot attend in the evening. To morrow evening he will take a benefit for himself, on which occasion he will perform the Davenport seance in the lighted room, and the Cabinet Trick without curtains, so that all can see just how the thing is done.

LEARNING.—Land lubbers are frequently laughed at by nautical men for their old expressions descriptive of rigging, and "such." Once in a while a land lubber has a chance to get even. For instance, last night a coaster, giving an order to a man to tie his horse to a certain hitch post, sang out, "Make fast to that spile there!" And this reminds us of Capt. S——, who recently directed his steward to "get something and go aboard" of farmer Hurd's wagon, "and take all the cucumbers he could find in her!"

[illegible].—The managers of the great steamship company known as the Inman line have dispatched an agent to this coast on matters connected with the business of the company. Local agents have already been appointed at San Francisco and Virginia City, Nevada. Mr. John [illegible], the traveling agent, will visit Portland and [illegible] on the same business. Arrangements will be made looking to the transportation of immigrants from England and Germany with rapid [illegible] and at low rates.

[illegible].—We have received some copies of the Jefferson, Iowa, Era. It is a neat looking weekly published by L. M. & M. L. Money. "Mr. M. L. Money [illegible]." We observe in its columns the advertisement of A. G. Cook, Esq., District Attorney at Vancouver, W. T., and letters from Rev. Mr. Hines on the resources of this part of Uncle Sam's domain.

[illegible].—We understand that the celebrated trotting horse Mohawk was stolen from [illegible]'s stable on Sunday night. Parties are in pursuit of the horse and thieves yesterday, with every prospect of capturing both. We have been promised full particulars at the [illegible] time.

[illegible].—We met a man yesterday who [illegible] because the weather had [illegible] this region the amount of rain [illegible] on Friday. He was [illegible] What a mer[illegible]

[illegible].—We are informed that [illegible] in this city last night [illegible] amending the City Charter, [illegible] passed the House yesterday.

[illegible].—Two hundred and seventy five volumes were added to the Cosmopolitan Hotel Library [illegible] on Saturday. Messrs. [illegible] provide entertain[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] a reception and [illegible] evening at [illegible]

[illegible] the Immigration [illegible]

[illegible].—At several places in the city [illegible] the past few days we have noticed [illegible] marked for the surveying expeditions of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company.

[illegible] H. Beden, of the Willamette Valley Railroad survey, arrived in the city on Sunday evening by stage from the South.

To Light a Dark Room.—The London Builder recommends a plan for lighting a dark room in which the darkness is caused by its being situated on a narrow street or lane. The Builder says if a glass of a window in such a room is placed several inches within the outer face of the wall, as is the general custom in building houses, it will admit very little light, that which it gets being only the reflection from the walls of the opposite houses. If, however, for the window be substituted another in which all the panes of glass are roughly ground on the outside, and flush with the outer wall, and light from the whole of the visible sky and from the remotest parts of the opposite wall will be introduced into the apartment, reflected from the innumerable faces or facets which the rough grinding of glass has produced. The whole window will appear as if the sky were beyond it, and from every point of this luminous surface light will radiate into all parts of the room.

Fine Carriages.—The Portland Dray and Hack Company, of which Mr. F. Camp is President and Ed. F. Albright, Secretary, are launching out gorgeously in the hack line. Recently noted that they had purchased of Pollard & Carville, San Francisco, a magnificent pearl mounted Clarence Hack at a cost of $1,300 laid down here. Yesterday they received another hack of the same pattern, gold mounted, which comes at an expense of $1,700 laid down. These, together with their Brewster Hacks, fixes the city off pretty well in that respect. The new one is to be driven by Mr. F. E. Hong, the pearl mounted one by Mr. Cris. Nowlan, and the best Brewster by Mr. James Connell.

No More.—The unequaled success with which the sale of tickets for the Mercantile Library Gift Concert has been attended, is now fully illustrated. Referring to this enterprise the telegraph has frequently reported that the entire number of tickets would be sold several days before the time of closing. This has been more than corroborated; as there is not, at the present time, a ticket remaining unsold, the last having been purchased from the agents on the evening of October 19th. This last ticket was sold to a resident of Portland, and arrived here on the steamer Sunday night.

Morgan Bros. have just received per steamer, a fine lot of Monterey Cypress trees. Also on hand and for sale, 100 boxes grapes at $1 50 per box. Call and see—corner First and Madison streets.

Those looking for farms or city real estate, are referred to the new advertisement of Messrs. Parrish & Atkinson. Their list of property is large and situated in good localities.

Rehearsal.—The Philharmonic Society will resume their rehearsals on Friday evening next.

Different Kinds of Pavements.—A Washington dispatch of Oct. 18 says:

The work of paving Pennsylvania Avenue, from the Capitol to the Treasury, commenced yesterday, and the laborers are removing stones. The Avenue is divided into four sections, which are to be paved with the Stowe, Robbins, Miller and Follansbee pavements; the Stowe pavement consists of three-inch wooden blocks placed on a fine sand foundation, the upper surface being made air and water tight; the wood being always wet will not, as the patentee claims, dry and rot, as all the other wooden pavements do that are placed on a board foundation. The contract for laying the pavement per square yard is $3 40.

The Robbins pavement is composed of blocks four inches wide and six inches high, keyed together by dovetailing in the bottom of the block, with a strip running through; they are set on a tap which projects half an inch on either side, making one inch space between the rows; when they are set this space is filled in with a concrete of coal tar and gravel, and the surface is also covered with a coating of concrete.

The patentee of the Miller pavement claims one important feature, which does not present itself to the eye, when laid; it is the fact of its burnetized plank foundation or floor, which is attained by infusing into the pores of the wood a preparation of chloride of zinc, thereby chemically changing and chloridizing its softer parts, and rendering the timber thus treated indestructible by the ordinary process of decay. The contract is $3 58 per square yard.

The Follansbee pavement is made of oblong, rectangular blocks, with their upper side edges beveled, so that when placed side by side a groove will be formed between them. It has also rows of wedge blocks placed at intervals between the rows of the rectangular blocks, for the purpose of compressing and binding the whole together. The rectangular blocks are first laid either on earth or board foundation, as may be devised; the wedge blocks, which are made by cutting one of the rectangular blocks through diagonally, are then inserted partially; concrete or hot tar is then poured into the grooves, and as soon as it has had time to fill up the spaces between the blocks the whole is compacted and bound together by driving the wedge block home. The contract price is $3 10 per square yard. The charge for removal of stone excavations, embankments and graveling is in addition to the amount of payment per square yard.

An Indian Farmer.—There is in Grass Valley, some twenty miles north of Austin, a copper colored "man and a brother"—a Shoshone Indian known as "Capt. Charlie"—who is doing the State and himself and family "some service." Captain Charlie is cultivating the soil; making the earth fruitful; giving the "sweat of his brow" in exchange for bread for his squaws, young barbarians and self. The Captain began his farm life this year, although for the two previous years he was engaged in packing wood to the city for the purpose of procuring a wagon and team and some necessary implements. He now owns a wagon, four mules and two horses, and is his own dexterous teamster. As we have said, this is his first year on the farm; but it will be seen that he has not permitted the grass to grow under his heels. The gentle savage has raised a large crop of excellent potatoes, many bushels of which he has already brought and sold in this city. Beside his potato crop he has gathered over fifty sacks of barley—altogether about three tons—which was as plump and clean as any produced by any farmer of the most "favored race." While Captain Charlie had potatoes and barley to spare for market, his family has grown fat on such delicacies as squashes, carrots, beans and so forth. We are glad to hear of a case of an Indian trying to help himself. The effect is good for the Indian, and the example may be beneficial to many white, civilized, Christian men.—Reese River Reveille.

A New Delusion—Pounding Life into the Dead.—The Bangor, Me., Whig of a late date says:

During the funeral service of a young man in Hermon, Me., on Monday last, who died of putrid fever, the minister officiating was interrupted by an occasional groan from a woman who is called among them a Spiritualist. She soon arose, and with uplifted hands and shaking, passed by him into the room of the mourners, stood by the coffin, and began to pound upon it. Raising the lid she continued with quick, regular, and heavy strokes, to beat the deceased, until the body became marred and emitted an offensive odor. One hand was used until weary, then the other; this process continued for two hours, when she was completely exhausted. After a brief space she attempted to commence again, but was too much exhausted. The minister had concluded the services, and the body was conveyed to the grave. Some of the friends and neighbors sympathized with the woman in her spiritualistic views, and it was thought best not to interfere. They had some idea that the dead might be raised to life.

A prospective father-in-law, speaking of the young man whom his daughter was to marry, said, "He is a good fellow, and has but one fault, he does not know how to swear." "A fault, indeed! I think you are extremely fortunate in getting such a son-in-law," replied his friend. "Yes, he doesn't know how to swear, but he swears all the same," was the reply.

Five dollars per minute is the income of one of the fortunate owners of oil wells in Pennsylvania. An offset perhaps could be found among the 5,000 men who wake up in various places in the morning, without knowing where their dinner is to come from, who once had large possessions in oil wells.

The Philadelphia Press, which doesn't want the wages of labor lowered by competition, logically asserts that "it is better to have the mechanics and working men of England here than to have them in England, and receive the products of their labor."

THE OREGON LEGISLATURE.

Sixth Biennial Session

SENATE—Morning Session

Salem, Monday, Oct. 24.

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment, at 10 A. M., President Fay in the chair.

Absent—Messrs Brown of Marion, Crawford and Newby.

The committees were called for reports, and several committees reported back bills referred, all of which went to the table, to come up in the regular order.

Mr Mosher from the special committee on Penitentiary building, asked further time to report, which was granted.

S. B. 96, relating to water rights, was read a third time and passed.

Mr Hendershott gave notice that he should move to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed.

A number of messages transmitting business were received from the House.

S. B. 8, to separate the offices of Clerk and Recorder in certain counties, received from the House with amendments.

The Senate refused to concur.

Mr Burch gave notice of a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Senate refused to concur.

The President—That will keep the bill here for three days.

Mr Burch—Then I withdraw the motion.

SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATION.

On motion of Mr. Travitt the Senate went into Committee of the Whole upon S. B. 91, to further provide for the ordinary expenses of the State government.

Mr Trevitt was called to the chair.

There was a long discussion on a proposition to amend so as to provide that certain warrants issued on account of the Penitentiary, be not paid till credited and allowed by a committee of investigation. Without reaching any conclusion, the committee rose, reported progress and asked leave to sit again. Granted.

The Senate at 11 45 adjourned till 2 o'clock.

American Neutrality—An Important Proclamation.

From the New York Herald, Oct. 9.

At an extraordinary session of the Cabinet at Washington yesterday, the Secretary of State submitted the draft of a proclamation, which was approved and immediately issued by the President for the information of all concerned, touching the obligations, at this important crisis in European affairs, of American neutrality. The proclamation prohibits the use of the bays, waters and harbors of the United States for purposes of war by belligerents (France and Prussia, for example), and declares that ships of war of either belligerent shall not leave any port of the United States within twenty-four hours after the departure of a merchantman of either belligerent; that war vessels of either belligerent shall not remain longer than twenty-four hours in any port of the United States unless for needed repairs and supplies; and that no vessel of war of either belligerent, after having entered one of our ports and left it, shall re-enter such port or another of the United States until after having visited a European port or a port of its own government. The making of our ports depots for supplying materials of war to belligerents is also prohibited, and the proper officers are instructed to carry out this proclamation.

This is substantially the law of neutrality proclaimed, but not impartially enforced, by England as her law of neutrality between the United States and the "so-called Confederate States" in our late civil war. That branch of it forbidding a war vessel of the United States from leaving a British port within twenty-four hours after the departure of a Confederate cruiser we considered at the time an outrageously one-sided neutrality in favor of Jeff Davis. The difficulty, however, was not in this law of neutrality, but in the recognition of our Confederate insurgent States on the same footing of belligerency as the United States. The concession of belligerent rights, in short, to our Southern insurgent States was the great offense of England, for the consequences of which she will yet be called upon to settle those Alabama claims. This twenty-four hour law in reference to the departure from this harbor, for instance, of a French vessel of war in chase of a departing German merchantman, as recent events have indicated, is necessary to prevent a practical blockade of the harbor by French gunboats against German merchantmen.

Upon this point, and in reference to the coming into and going out from our ports of the war vessels of France or Prussia, this proclamation simply declares the neutral rights and obligations of the United States. So, too, in regard to the "making our ports depots for supplying materials of war to belligerents," the proclamation is only an enforcement of the neutrality law of Congress of 1848. This law does not prohibit the exportation of arms to belligerents by private individuals; but how far the latest proclamation of the President on the subject will apply in the matter of "making our ports depots" of materials of war it remains to be disclosed. It may be contended that in publicly using a ship as a "depot" in this port we are using the port itself as a depot, and this may be the President's meaning. In any event, his proclamation will put an end to the blockade of German merchant steamers in this port by French gunboats—a presumption that has become offensive to American ideas of our neutral rights.

Naturalization Frauds.

We call attention to the following article from the New York Times, which gives some astounding facts relative to naturalization frauds in that city:

The organs of the "Ring" continue to denounce the Acts of Congress to prevent frauds in naturalization, and to deny that any frauds have been perpetrated. We beg leave to call their attention to the unimpeachable evidence on this subject given by Judge George G. Barnard.

The Sun stated, about two weeks ago, on the authority, as it said, of Judge Barnard, that be had never signed in his life more than four thousand naturalization papers. Now, it appears from the records of the Supreme Court, kept in the County Clerk's office, that between the 8th and 23d days of October, 1868 (fourteen working days), ten thousand and ninety-three persons were naturalized in the Court over which Judge Barnard presided, and on each and every one of these 10,093 separate papers appear the initials G. G. B.

We do not propose to dispute Judge Barnard's word, but we cite it to show that in his own court-room, and necessarily with the connivance and assistance of clerks or officers of the Court, his signature was forged to at least 6,093 judgments, upon all of which certificates of naturalization were issued. Of these 10,093 judgments, 9,711 were on minor applications—that is by persons who claimed to have arrived in the country before attaining the age of eighteen. In these the production of a "declaration of intention" is dispensed with, the facts of residence for five years, and of being under eighteen at the time of arrival, being proved by a witness, who in each case swears to his personal knowledge of these facts. One Deputy Sheriff swore to such facts in 251 cases. Two notorious Eighth Ward thieves, whose names appear almost weekly in the Police reports, were witnesses, one in sixty-eight cases, the other in 451. In fact, of the whole forty thousand "records of naturalization" manufactured in the Supreme and Superior Courts of this City in the month of October, 1868, less than twenty per cent. are free from palpable evidences of fraud, perjury and forgery. That thousands of certificates were issued of which there is no record whatever is equally certain.

Mr. Hoffman is the receiver of these fraudulent votes, and is in the enjoyment of the power stolen from the people by means of the wrong-doing. Will he, or will the tools and organs of the villains whose puppet he is, dare to discuss publicly the means by which he attained his present position? There is not a Democratic paper in the country, not even the venal World, which would venture to accept such a challenge.

When the Ledger of Philadelphia lengthened its columns not long since, it was at a cost for white paper alone of $20,000 per annum.

DESTRUCTION BY FIRE OF THE HALL OF OSO LODGE, NO. 110, I. O. O. F.

Bear Valley, Sept. 14, 1870.—At a regular meeting of Oso Lodge, No. 110, I. O. O. F., the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the very prompt and honorable settlement, by the Phœnix Insurance Co., of Hartford, Conn., through Samuel C. Bates, Esq., its Agent at Hornitos, Mariposa county, Cal., of the claim of this Lodge under their Policy of Insurance, is but another of its many equitable adjustments, and as such deserves our thanks, and we hereby tender the same; and we do hereby endorse its conservative course, and recommend the said Phœnix Company, of Hartford, Conn., to the Order as a prompt, reliable and honorable business institution, well deserving of its patronage.

Attest: M. NEWMAN, Secretary.

BURNING OF COLUMBIA BREWERY.

R. H. Magill, Esq., Manager Phœnix Insurance Co., San Francisco: Dear Sir: You will please accept thanks for the proper adjustment and payment, in United States Gold Coin, of the amount of my claim for loss caused by the total destruction of my brewery and dwelling buildings at Columbia by fire, on the night of the 3d September, 1870. FIRE IN OREGON.

Messrs. E. Fox & Bros., Agents Phœnix Insurance Company, of Hartford—Corvallis, Oregon: I hereby acknowledge the prompt and satisfactory settlement, by the Phœnix Insurance Company, of my claim against them for the loss of my dwelling house and furniture, and I would recommend your Company to those desiring reliable indemnity against fire. THE PHŒNIX INSURANCE COMPANY, OF HARTFORD, CONN.,

Has been represented on the Pacific Coast for over twelve years, during which period 600 claims for loss, amounting to over $400,000, have been adjusted and paid on an average of seven days after fires occurred.

A man living in Belmont, Me., named Cunningham, has fasted since election day—fourteen days—and declares he will eat no more. He is a single man, and had been for some time past supported by his relatives, till the past summer, when some aid was procured from the town unknown to him. On going to deposit his vote, it was challenged and excluded. This produced such an effect that he resolves to seek death in the way mentioned.

Found at Last!—A remedy that not only relieves, but cures consumption and its numerous satellites which revolve around it in the shape of coughs, colds, influenza, Bronchitis, &c. This remedy is Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

What is Dyspepsia?—The Question Settled.—Two young medical students were disputing the other day at the house of a mutual friend as to the nature of Dyspepsia. One said the primary cause was a diseased liver; the other insisted that the disease originated in the epigastrium. "I can tell you what Dyspepsia is, for I've been there," observed the host laughingly. "Well," said one of the young medicos, "let's have your opinion." "Dyspepsia," said he, "is a complaint that you can't relieve, and that Plantation Bitters cures in a week." The person who made this remark resides at 108 Green with Avenue, and his name is Martin W. Myers.

Sea Moss Farine from pure Irish Moss, for Blanc Mange, Puddings, Custards, Creams, &c., &c. The cheapest, healthiest and most delicious food in the world.

That Enemy of Mankind, Consumption! can be cured, but it is far better to prevent the cruel disease from fastening itself on the system, by the timely use of a remedy such as Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry affords.

A Universal Remedy.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" for Coughs, Colds and Bronchial Affections, now stands the first in public favor and confidence; this result has been acquired by a test of many years. Its merits and extensive use have caused the Troches to be counterfeited, and we would caution purchasers to be on their guard against worthless imitations.

The Shivering Season

The loss to the laboring classes of the United States caused by fever and ague, has been estimated at upwards of two million dollars per annum. Whole settlements are sometimes prostrated by the disease, and it is regarded in some localities, as one of the visitations of Providence which cannot be avoided. This is a mistake. As certainly as any of the evils which are invited by neglect may be forestalled by precaution—so certainly may an attack of intermittent or remittent fever be prevented by invigorating the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in advance of the season, at which this malady prevails. Prevention, it is needless to say, is the wisest policy, but it is consoling to know that where time has not been thus taken by the forelock, and the paroxysms have actually commenced, a complete cure may, in all cases, be rapidly effected by the use of this powerful vegetable tonic. The reputation of the Bitters as a specific for dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation and nervous debility, has to some extent thrown into the shade its merits as a preventive and cure of other ailments; but all who have ever taken it, either as a protection against or a remedy for malarious fevers, will admit that it surpasses in efficacy all the so-called specifics (including quinine), usually prescribed for these maladies, while it is at the same time entirely harmless and decidedly palatable.

HOTEL

Hotels are houses ov refuge homes for th vagrants th married man's retreat and th bachelor's fireside

They are kept in all sorts ov ways some on the European plan and meny ov them on no plan at all

A good landlord iz like a good stepmother he knows hiz bizness and means to do hiz duty

He knows how to rub hiz hands when the traveler draws nigh he knows how to smile, he knowd yure father when he waz living and yure wife's first husband but he don't speak about him

He kan tell whether it will rain to morrow or not, he hears yure complaints with a tear in his eye he blows up the servants at yure suggestion and stands around reddy with a shirt collar as stiff as broken china

A man may be a good supreme court judge and at the same time be a miserable landlord

Most everybody thinks he kan keep a hotel (and they kan, but this ackounts for the great number ov hotels that are kept on the same principle that a justiss ov the peace of fis iz kept in a country during a six days jury trial for killing sumbody's yeller dog

A hotel wont keep itself and keep the landlord too and even kure a traveler from the habit of profane swearing

I hav had this experiment tried on several times and it always makes me swear wuss.

It iz too often the kase that landlords go into the bizness ov hash as ministers go into the profession, with the very best ov motives, but the poorest kind ov prospect

I don't know ov any bizziness more flatterin than the travern bizziness there don't seem to be anything to do but to stand in front of the register with a pen behind the ear to see that the guests enter the house then ring the bell rope six or seven times and then tell John to sho the gentlemen 3 b and then take four dollars and fifty cents next mornin, from the poor devil ov a traveler and let him went

This seems to be the whole thing (and it iz the whole thing) in most cases.

Yu will diskover the following deskripshun a mild one ov about 9 hotels out ov 10 between the Atlantick and Pacifick Oshuns akrost the United States in a straight line

Youre room is 13 foot 6 inches by 9 foot 7 inches parallelogramly

It being court week (ez usual) all the good rooms are employed bi the lawyers and Judges

Youre room is on the uttermost floor

The carpet iz ingrain—ingrained with the dust, kerosene ile and ink spots ov four generashuns.

There is two pegs in the room tew hitch coats onto, one ov them broke oph and the other pulled out, and missing

The buro has three legs and one brick

The glass to the buro swings on two pivots, which have lost their grip

Thare is one towell on the rack thin but wet. The rain water in the pitcher cum out ov the well

The soap iz az tuff to wear az a whet stone

The soap iz scented with cinnamon ile and variagated with spots

Thare iz three chairs cane seaters one iz a rocker, and all three is busted

Thare iz a match box, empty

Thare iz no kurtin to the window and thare dont want to be any yu kant see out, and who kan see in?

The bell rope iz cum oph about six inches side ov the ceiling

The bed iz a modern slat bottom with two mattresses, one cotton and one husk and both harder, and about as thick az a [illegible] bis kit

Yu enter the bed side ways and kan feel every slat at once, as easy az you could the ribs of a gridiron

The bed iz inhabited

Yu sleep some but roll over a good deal

For breakfast you have a gong, and rhy coffee too cold to melt butter, fried potatoes which resemble the chips that a two inch auger makes in its journey through an oak log

Bread scaled, beef stake about az thick az a blister plaster, and az tough az a hound's ear

Table covered with plates a few scared to death pickles on one ov them and 6 fly endorsed crackers on the other

A pewter castor with three bottles in it, one without any pepper in it one without any mustard and one with two inches of drowned flies and some vinegar in it

Servant gal with hoops on hangs around ye earnestly and wants to now if yu want another cup ov coffee

Yu say "No mom, I thank yu, and push back yure chair

You havent eat enough to pay for picking yure teeth,

I am about az self-conceited az it will do for a man to be and not cracked open but I never yet conceited that I could keep a hotel I had rather [illegible] than to be sum landlords I have [illegible] with.

There are hotels that are a joy upon the earth, where a man pays his bill az cheerfully az he did the parson who married him where yu can find the landlord unless you hunt in, the kitchen where servants glide around like angels ov mercy, where the beds fit a man's back like feathers on a goose, and where the vittles taste just az tho yure wife or yure mother had cooked them

Theze kind ov hotels ought tew be built on wheels and travel around the country they are just az full ov real comfort az a thanksgiving pudding, but alas yes alas! they are az unplenty az double yolked eggs

The Democracy of New York are preparing for a free vote there or a fight, as they expect to assemble roughs enough at all the leading polls to poll every fraudulent vote required to carry the State If any attempt whatever is made to challenge or check this system of free and diversified voting, they stand ready to sustain themselves by fighting One or the other of two things had better be done therefore in New York Either the polls should be let entirely alone so that all may vote as often as they choose or a force should be on hand sufficient to prevent fifteen thousand men from voting illegally where they are ready to fight for the privilege New York will never cast a vote worth recording until several thousand roughs have been made to walk Spanish as they did during the draft Half measures only result in breaking the heads of the few who attempt to enforce them. Vigorous measures suppressing the common election frauds in New York would do great good since the evil is growing so rapidly as to render it certain that it must be crushed out by force at some time or other the sooner the force is applied the less it will require —Chicago Tribune

ADAM DEFINED —There must have been some curious specimens of Scotch humor brought out at the examination of catechising by ministers of the flock before the administration of the communion Thus with reference to human nature before the fall a man was asked

'What kind of a man was Adam?

'Oh, jist like other fools '

The minister insisted on having a more special description of the first man and pressed for more explanation

'Weel ' said the catechumen 'he was lik Joe Simpson the horse-couper

How so asked the minister

'Weel naebody got anything by him and many lost

IT'S ONLY OYSTERS —An honest Jonathan from the interior on his first visit to the metropolis was awakened one morning by hearing the cry of 'Oyst! buy any oysters?' in the mellifluous tones of a vender of the luscious shell fish who was passing under the window of the hotel A noise so new to him startled him, and he asked his room mate what it meant

It's only oysters, replied his fellow lodger pettishly

Oysters! exclaimed Jonathan in astonishment, and do oysters holler as loud as that?

A young rural lawyer in Illinois is going to take the stump during the fall campaign and proposes to grasp a ray of light from the gray orb of day spin it into threads of gold, and with them weave a throne in which to wrap the whirlwind which dies upon the bosom of our western prairies

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency, etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents guardians friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies so that they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private disease his special study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of the afflicted to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision, blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

Caution to the Unfortunate

THE RIVERSIDE
HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION!
OF
EAST PORTLAND, OREGON,

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS to their Stock

Application for ONE HUNDRED SHARES [illegible] before the books were opened and a large number of Shares have been taken

The following extracts from the Oregonian and Bulletin will convey a good idea of the plan and working of the Association the location of the land, etc

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

The association of whose organization we gave an account a few days since, is now ready to [illegible] pose of shares As it is with one exception, (the Portland Homestead Association,) the pioneer organization of that kind in this city, it may be well enough to state what are its purposes, and the manner in which it is proposed to conduct its operations The purposes of these Homestead Associations are not at all speculative in the ordinary sense of the word They [illegible] for the profits of their investment upon the natural advance in the value of their lands, consequent upon the co-operation of many individuals —shareholders—and the advance on values of surrounding lands by reason of the [illegible] population and demand for room [illegible] still near the city The Riverside Homestead Association has a fraction over one hundred and twenty acres of land situated just south of Brooklyn on the east side of the river, the west boundary line being about one mile from the ferry landing at East Portland. The tract lies in one strip along the Willamette river, half a mile in length and another strip along the Oregon and California railroad, half a mile in length. These strips being connected near the [illegible] by two rows of blocks (with a street between them,) the whole forming a figure not unlike the letter H. It is divided into 74 blocks, 200 feet square [illegible] streets running at right angles) and 80 fractional lots along the river front. The shares are number 600, worth $60 per share. It will be [illegible] a share thus represents nearly a lot with an undivided interest in the 80 fractional lots. The 80 fractional shares are to be sold off at the [illegible] for the benefit of the Association [illegible] coming in for the proceeds in proportion to the number of shares held When all shares are taken and the Association shall determine to do it, the choice of lots and blocks will be put up at [illegible] bidder the proceeds of [illegible] the original price of shares [illegible] equally among the whole [illegible] Thus, if a person wants a particular lot [illegible] and is willing to pay $100 [illegible] or less as the case may be [illegible] the lot or block as his individual [illegible] premium being divided among the whole of shareholders It will be [illegible] everything is co operative, and all [illegible] No man can make a dollar out of it without also making a dollar for every other shareholder There is no chance for [illegible] the property by some change [illegible] far below the first actual cost. Whether this is liable to happen in the case of this [illegible] tract of land must be judged by each for himself, but considering the steady and [illegible] advance on real estate in this city and [illegible] hood, and at East Portland and vicinity, in the last year or two, it [illegible] hardly [illegible] values to go back.

In the Riverside Association all proper precautions seem to have been taken to guard [illegible] monopolies of shares. No person is [illegible] buy more than the number of shares [illegible] three blocks, or twenty-four lots, and [illegible] terminating the operations of the [illegible] restricted in the same manner The buyers of shares may pay down $60 per share, which will exempt them from all [illegible] or they may pay $15 quarterly with an [illegible] share payable with the first [illegible] liable in this latter case to [illegible] other) assessment of $1 per share. On payment of the shares in full, [illegible] as above the holder is entitled to his [illegible] and his proportion of all the profits [illegible] all sources No officer of the [illegible] any pay for services except the [illegible] gets $25 per month, so it will be seen that the expenses must be light.

That part of the tract lying along the river is a high plateau, nearly level, about 30 to 50 feet above the water There is [illegible] row of blocks but [illegible] Portland and the river for [illegible] stream That part of the tract lying [illegible] railroad is, every foot of it, of [illegible] soil and adapted to gardening, [illegible] tiful little stream of pure water runs through almost the entire length of this wing of the tract affording the means of irrigation and power sufficient to supply pure water to every part of the whole tract There is not a waste [illegible] lot in the entire tract Under all these advantages it would seem impossible that there should be any chance of loss to shareholders. Within a year each shareholder, if he chooses, may get a perfect title to as many lots as his shares may represent, or he may continue his interest, undivided with the Association while the organization may exist.—Oregonian.

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

We have been led to make these remarks from the fact that the subject of making homesteads on the outskirts of this city and East Portland, is being [illegible] is used here among all classes, and [illegible]

Riverside [illegible] south of East Portland has already been established The site selected is a tract of land lying a little over a mile south of the ferry [illegible] shaped like the letter H, one side of which, a half mile in length borders on the river

From this portion of the homestead, which is elevated but a little above the other prong of the H but is still forty or fifty feet above the river, can be had an extensive view of Portland East Portland, the shipping and the Willamette [illegible] for several miles. The land is [illegible] and is partly covered with light fir timber. [illegible] wide enough for two rows of blocks, with an avenue between them, connects the west prong of the H (which has already been described) [illegible] east. This last tract of land is in a beautiful little valley which is now under a high state of cultivation Through its [illegible] length runs a trout brook, the water [illegible] as crystal. With a hydraulic ram [illegible] proposes to have water conveyed through [illegible] every portion of the homestead.—Daily Bulletin.
